THE CHRISTOPHER D. SMITHERS FOUNDATION AWARDS

THE R. BRINKLEY SMITHERS AWARD

As a permanent special memorial to our Founder, the Foundation established the R. Brinkley Smithers Award which reads "For outstanding contributions to the field of alcoholism." In addition to a commemorative bronze medallion, the Foundation will give $10,000 to a charity in the field of alcoholism named by the recipient.

The recipients for 2006 were:

Mrs. Martha Baker

In the early 1970's, Marty Baker was one of the founding trustees of The Cleveland Center on Alcoholism, which then affiliated with the National Council on Alcoholism. Marty became president and chairman. Under her leadership the agency focused on public education about the disease of alcoholism, as well as its prevention, and instigated programs for children of alcoholics. Adult Children of Alcoholics was an outgrowth of this project. In the late 70's Marty's beloved late husband, Dick, joined the Board and was instrumental in establishing one of the first Employee Assistance Programs in the nation, which still operates nationally as a role model.

Marty joined the Board of the National Council on Alcoholism in 1978 and became the first woman president of this organization in the mid-80's. In her 22 years of service and leadership on the Board of NCADD, Marty, through her willingness to help and generosity to the cause, has served as a role model and an inspiration to the entire field.

Leadership to Keep Children Alcohol Free is a national, nonpartisan coalition whose mission is to promote the health, well-being and potential of the Nation's youth by preventing alcohol use among 9 to 15 year olds. Leadership is comprised of the Initiative (sitting Governors' spouses), the Emeritus Group (spouses of former Governors), and the Leadership Foundation, a not-for-profit philanthropy established in October 2004. The Board of Directors of the Foundation includes spouses of both former Governors and sitting cabinet members from both political parties. The Foundation recently opened its first office in Washington, DC. It is a grant-seeking entity.

Leadership was created to draw public attention to the problem of early alcohol use among 9 to 15 year-olds, with the Governors' spouses providing leadership as State and national spokespersons. Leadership recognizes childhood drinking as a public health issue and seeks to make its prevention a national priority. Its members work with federal, state and local policy makers and opinion leaders to develop and implement comprehensive, integrated, evidence based approaches to help keep children alcohol free. Most recently Leadership has been collaborating with the American Academy of Pediatrics on a model program to help pediatricians address alcohol use among their patients. It is playing a major role in the support and dissemination of the Surgeon General's Call to Action on underage drinking. The Leadership is continuing to expand its outreach to new states and Governors' spouses.

Scott Clark

Scott joined Eyewitness News in 1986 and soon became the station's Sports Director and Anchor and is known to be "Out Of This World"! In fact, Scott's reporting exploits over the past 30 years have taken him around the world - from Tokyo, Japan for Major League Baseball's historic season opener with the Mets, to England to cover The Championships at Wimbledon, and back across the United States to bring Channel 7 viewers the best Coverage of their local sports teams.

While at Channel 7, Scott initiated some of the funniest and most anticipated sports features with his weekly segments, "Out Of This World," "Highlight Zone" and "Armchair Quarter Back."

The Emmy Award winning sportscaster has not only nabbed exclusive interviews throughout the years, but has also covered sporting events first hand. Scott signed on and played with a professional football team. He has stood with bat in hand at home plate to face the likes of Doc Gooden and Goose Gossage and has played basketball against the Harlem Globetrotters. If that wasn't enough he's been a Drag Racer, Sky Diver, Bronco Buster, and yes, even, a Bull Riding Fool that earned him a week's stay in the hospital.

Off the air, Scott serves as Vice President on the Board of Directors of the Alcoholism Council of New York. In addition, he serves on the Advisory Board of the National Sportscasters Association, and the Board of Trustees of the Starlight Foundation, where he was recently inducted into its Hall of Fame.

New York's 1998 Big Brother of the Year, also loves to play golf, and has helped raise hundreds of thousands of dollars for charity by hosting his own golf tournaments over the years.

FOUNDATION GRANTS IN THE FIELD OF ALCOHOLISM

Adelphi University

Garden City, NY

$50,000

The grant monies received from the Smithers Foundation was utilized for the development of the alcohol prevention and intervention services for the under graduate population at Adelphi University, and for the creation of a plan for evaluation of programs and intervention effectiveness. During the fall of 2005, planning for the pilot project began, and the plans were presented to the Smithers Foundation and the Adelphi University Faculty.

In the Spring of 2006, Institutional Review Board approval was obtained to initiate program implementation. The following are the accomplishments related to the pilot program:

BASICS: Process and outcome evaluation instruments were developed: Readiness to Change, Alcohol Attitude and Environmental Survey, and a demographic and program reaction form. The AU e-CHUG website, an online survey which provides a detailed assessment of alcohol use, was tested and established. The counselors, who will implement BASICS, and clerical assistants, who will input data, were assigned.

The initiation of the pilot testing of BASICS started in June, 2006. Examining the process to date, the following issues have been identified: the referral process, which is primarily done through the office of judicial services, will be refined and expanded. Resident assistants will receive an orientation and debriefing regarding the program and follow up mechanisms will be institutionalized. In addition to the Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, an additional administrative assistant is needed to insure that the program is carried out.

CHOICES: Implementation and evaluation plans have been finalized. The program is presently being pilot tested for approximately six hundred and fifty freshmen in July. The freshmen who complete this ninety minute program will fill out a pre-test, a post-test, and course evaluation. In addition, the seven counselors who are implementing CHOICES will complete a process questionnaire to determine difficulties or problems. Concerns regarding the implementation of CHOICES are capturing commuter students and freshmen who did not attend orientation. Mechanisms to reach these students as well as at-risk students (fraternities, sororities, and athletes) are being explored so that CHOICES can be administered to them in the Fall of 2006.

Scholarly Outputs include three poster presentations given on campus about the project. These presentations were entitled: An Evidenced-Based Intervention to Reduce Campus Alcohol Consumption: A Program Evaluation. Another poster presentation is scheduled in the fall 2006 at the Connecticut Research Alliance and Institute of Health Care Education conference. A research assistant is reviewing the literature relating to alcohol prevention and use on campuses for manuscript development.

Resources and Future plans, for Program Development

Funding has been adequate in the planning phases of the program. After assessing the activities of the key individuals, it has been determined that a coordinator is needed to work with the individuals who make referrals from athletic teams, sororities, fraternities, the campus judicial system, dormitories, and health services. An additional assistant is required to conduct focus groups and other qualitative research methods, such as interviews, to evaluate the effectiveness of the program. These positions will be filled in the fall semester. Future plans for program development include a social marketing scheme to promote the existence of the programs and to educate students and faculty. An individual will be needed to proceed with this work. It is anticipated that a follow-up CORE survey, a university-wide alcohol use survey, will be administered to monitor program outcomes as well as identify barriers to the successful implementation of the program. Results of this survey will be compared to the baseline CORE survey done in 2005.

Alcoholism Council of New York

New York, NY

$52,920

A Smithers Foundation grant provided support for several programs which were overseen by the ACNY.

Physicians Alcoholism and Addiction Training Program in cooperation with the New York Affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism and the Smithers Foundation and under the direction of Dr. Nicholas Pace training was provided for 66 primary care physicians from four New York teaching hospitals who have been instrumental in the training of residents and faculty in addiction programs.

Hospital programs participating included: NYU Medical Center's Departments of Pediatrics, Primary Care, and Categorical residents, Montefiore Medical Centers Department of Family Medicine, Lenox Hill Hospital's Department of Primary Care, and Mt. Sinai Medical Center. Lenox Hill continued sending their residents for the fifth year of mandatory training.

Participating hospitals continue to assume more responsibility for addiction-training programs in-house, while continuing to send residents to the training where they are paired up for three nights with a recovering alcoholic from Alcoholics Anonymous Cooperating with the Professional Community Committee(CPC). Pediatric residents were included in the PAAT training for the first time and some adjustments were made for the course to accommodate them. In an effort to accommodate the schedule of the NYU residents, the buddy time has been decreased to 2 evenings per week and residents start the program at 5:00 p.m. instead of 4:00 p.m. So far these adjustments are very beneficial and evaluations are positive about the time changes.

A plan was implemented in 2006 to recruit a more varied training faculty in order to create a self-sustaining program in New York City. Several additional psychiatrists were added to the faculty. A special focus was placed on the Standardized Patient Interview, adding the medical director of Substance Abuse Consultation and Referral at Montefiore Medical Center as one of three PAAT Standardized Patient facilitators. This brings the total to eight new faculty who have been selected, trained and added on a rotation basis; all of them are from New York University Medical School. All of the physicians in PAAT program provide a broad spectrum of alcohol and substance specialties. They continue to add faculty based on a balance of internal medicine/primary care doctors and psychiatry. Several doctors are also available each month for Standardized Patient interviews. Additionally, three individuals have assisted in the operation and on site considerations of the program under the direction of the PAAT Clinical Training Director, Janice Meredith.

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) has contacted the PAAT and would like to do a research piece on the Standardized Patient Interview and will begin this process soon. They are very supportive of a national physician-training program.

The program is stronger as a result of careful analysis of handouts, revision of resident evaluation tools, updating handout materials, and experimentation with best method for getting materials to residents in advance to allow time for review. A new version of the graduation certificate includes the Alcoholism Council's new location. The year 2006 has resulted in an even more effective program with increased community support through the teaching hospitals and Alcoholics Anonymous. By the end of academic year 06-07 almost 400 residents from New York City teaching hospitals will have been successfully trained by the PAAT

Golf and Spring Luncheon Fundraisers were held to support the every day activities of the Alcoholism Council of New York.

Boys & Girls Clubs of Tampa Bay

Tampa, FL

$8,000

Grant funds were used for the implementation and expansion of the SMART Moves Program. SMART Moves provides training to help young people understand the dangers and to resist the use of drugs, alcohol and tobacco. The SMART Moves Program is a key element of the core programming offered to young people at each of our twenty four Clubs. It is designed to inform young people in a positive way, equipping them with basic life skills, problem-solving and decision-making abilities and communications skills that are all designed to boost self-confidence and self-esteem.

SMART Moves uses age-specific modules that engage Club staff, parents, community members and older teen members in a team approach to prevention. Therefore, depending on age, Club members will participate in the following:

- SMART Kids, for children ages 6-9: Focuses on building self-esteem, positive social skills and the skills to avoid drugs and other harmful influences.
- Start SMART, for preteens ages 10-12: Presents information and skills needed to resist pressures to get involved in alcohol, tobacco, other drugs or sexual activity. Group members analyze influences from the media and from peers; they also practice resisting peer pressure.
- Stay SMART, for teens ages 13-15: Provides information about alcohol, tobacco, other drugs and sexuality and develops skills to help teenagers make healthy choices. Teens practice problem-solving and decision-making, stress reduction techniques, and ways to resist peer and media pressure.

In addition to the above mentioned is the Yankee Luncheon which the Foundation sponsors to help raise funds to restore and rebuild New Boys & Girls Clubs in the Tampa Bay Area.

Caribbean Institute on Alcoholism And Other Drug Problems

Trinidad, W.I.

$5,000

With a grant provided by the Smithers Foundation, the 52nd Caribbean Institute on Alcoholism and Other Drug Problems hosted 65 participants from Caribbean countries. The Institute brings together workers in the field of alcoholism and substance abuse from the entire Caribbean region, helping to provide a network of prevention and treatment services throughout the Caribbean. The Institute offered an intense two week Basic Course as well as a three day Specialized Workshop on "Youth Alcohol and Drugs."

The Basic Course covered a wide range of subject areas presenting up-to-date information on the nature of drug dependence: biological, psychological and socio-cultural aspects of alcoholism and drug dependence; and medical and other consequences of drug dependence. Lectures also focused on youth, alcohol and drugs; women, alcohol and drugs; children of alcoholics and drug abuse in the Caribbean context. There were updates on Cannabis, Cocaine, substance abuse and HIV/AIDS and other addictions.

The 3-day Specialized Workshop aimed to enhance the knowledge and skills of clinicians, other workers and policy makers involved with drug-using youth. This Workshop looked at Caribbean trends in youth drug abuse and addressed adolescent development and drug use, risk and protective factors, assessment and treatment planning and treatment and prevention approaches.

A wide range of occupations was represented in the student body. They included a psychiatrist, medical doctor, nurses, psychiatric social workers, police officers, counsellors, probation officers, prison welfare officers, drug education officers, research officers, guidance counsellors, mental health officers, programme directors, drug control officers and others working in the field of prevention and treatment.

International faculty was representative of the multidisciplinary nature of drug dependence and comprised four psychiatrists, four psychologists, a social worker, an educator, an employee assistance consultant and a member of the clergy, from Trinidad, Jamaica, USA and Canada. Paraprofessionals functioned as resource personnel.

Employment Program for Recovered Alcoholics, Inc. New York, NY

$15,000

The founding of EPRA by R. Brinkley Smithers and John H. Beard along with the support of The Christopher D. Smithers Foundation, enabled the missing link, namely the vocational recovery process, to be established almost 30 years ago. Even as treatment agencies add vocational components to their programs, EPRA remains unique in its approach by truly integrating sound recovery principles with the vocational rehabilitation process and ultimately self-sufficient, sustained employment that has the effect of reducing or eliminating relapse episodes.

The ongoing support of The Christopher D. Smithers Foundation over the years has aided EPRA in maintaining the vital mission of vocational recovery. In 2006, EPRA's Diagnostic Vocational Evaluation program served 372 clients with 120 of those clients entering our Internship (Situational Assessment) programs to gain experience in the everyday work world, as well as to address their barriers to employment. With respect to employment, 57 individuals became employed at an average hourly wage of $13.32 per hour and 65% of those jobs offered medical benefits to their clients, through completion of a program evaluation survey, continue to express a very positive experience at EPRA.

Smithers Foundation funding has enabled EPRA to purchase special Vocational Evaluation equipment in this past year which will enhance its overall services. Recommended by line staff members of the State, this initiative has been well received by the New York State Office of Vocational and Educational Services for Individuals with Disabilities. It is hoped that the addition of this special testing will stabilize our current referral base and eventually result in an increase in the number of clients entering the program.

Recent levels of service at the Bronx Center, in its 3rd year of operation, now meet the requirements of the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. This is an important improvement as this contract expires next year and hopefully will be considered for renewal.

National Council on Alcoholism And Drug Dependence

San Francisco, CA $8,500

Below is a brief description on how the grant from the Smithers Foundation was utilized by NCADD, San Francisco, CA.

The purpose of the grant was to provide substance abuse education in five 50-minute sessions to 1,000 students in the public middle schools in San Francisco. The Youth Services Program was able to provide the curriculum to 1,108 students in 5 middle schools by the end of the 05-06 school years.

The curriculum was provided to schools with approximately 52% of the students utilizing the free lunch program therefore making the majority of the school population from low and moderate income families.

They were able to demonstrate that student's knowledge and awareness about the harmful effects of alcohol and other drugs increased when there was a 16% increase in overall knowledge about the consequences of using alcohol and other drugs between pre and post test scores. The group score was 76% on the pre test which increased to 92% on the post test.

Dr. Ernest Noble's research on the genetic basis of alcoholism and other drug addictions was funded by a Smithers Foundation grant in 2006.

Since the last report, some of the accomplishments made during the current grant period are described in the following report.

Identification of the unique cognitive behavioral and genetic characteristics of adolescent children of alcoholics has been one of the primary objectives of Dr. Noble's research during 2006.

In the first study, the P300, a brain wave form that indexes cognitive abilities (the higher the P300 amplitude and the shorter the P300 latency, the better the cognition) was measured in 71 adolescent children of alcoholics (those with a positive family history of alcoholism, or FH+) and adolescent children of non-alcoholics (i.e., those with a negative family history of alcoholism, or FH-). The P300 was obtained at time 1 (T1) and 2 years later at time 2 (T2). Comparisons were made between children who had the D2dopamine receptor (DRD2) A1 allele (A1+), an allele associated with alcoholism and other drug addictions, and children who did not have this allele (A1-). Comparisons were also made between FH+ and FH- children. In both testing sessions, P300 attained larger amplitudes in children of non-alcoholics than children of alcoholics. At T2 compared to T1, both amplitude and latency of the P300 were decreased. However, while the developmental P300 latency effect was equivalent in both the A1+ and A1- allelic groups, the P300 amplitude reduction was only found in children with the A1- allele. In conclusion, differences in the developmental course of the P300 over the 2-year course of adolescence are dependent on DRD2 polymorphisms. Specifically, the brain of children with the DRD2 A1+ allele mature slower, so far as cognitive abilities are concerned, than children who do not have the DRD2 allele. This study was published in 2006 in the Journal of Clinical Neurophysiology.
